Note: In the photo above I show earring wire instead of ornament hooks. I changed that later as I found ornament hooks made it far easier to move ornaments around after they'd been hung. Also, my supplies are based on a 4 foot tall mobile using almost 100 ornaments, you'll need to adjust amounts ...

This scone light demonstrates how to create a double spiral by applying a light projection from one side of a loxodrome to a wall on the other side. In mathematics, we call this type of projection a stereographic projection. I finished the small 4 inch prototype on 10/10/11, but I did not present my large 8 inch model until recently, at the 3D Printer World Expo 2014.
