Sedulius's Carmen Paschale attempts to rewrite the Gospels in the style of classical epics, such as Vergil's Eneid. Apart from the story of Christ, the poem also contains various references to Old Testament stories. To give you an idea of the nature of the poem, here is the text that accompanies an image of Abraham's sacrifice of Isaac in ...

This account represents Sedulius as a Layman, who lived at first in Italy and was devoted to the study of philosophy; consequently he probably wrote his works in Achaia during the reign of Theodosius the Younger (died 450) and of Valentinian III (died 455). The principal work of Sedulius is a poem in five books called "Carmen paschale".
